more reliable data for just conclusions. These years really show what the people of Georgia were worth after recovering from the prestration that followed 1873. Let us see what the people did and what they were worth after they got fairly upon their feet. The figures in this article are taken mainly from the report for 1880 of the Hon. W. A. Wright, comptroller general. Some are taken from earlier reports.

The total of taxable property April 1. 1880, was $238 934,126; an increase over 1879 of $14.379,179, that is, an increase of a little over six per cent of the whole property of the state. Most political economists would call this, to say the least of it, encouraging. The bulk of this property is in real estate, farming lauds, the taxbook value of which, as is well known to those fourther with these war, and declared that the route taken by the Georgia Western was the mest direct and known by the Georgia Western was the mest direct and known to those dustries of a state. Let us see what the people have been doing in Georgia for the past few years and what they have been doing it with. The figures of 1876 may be nel-pful here. There were, in 1876 of improved lands," 28,737,539 acres; in 1880, 29 815,591—an increase in four years of 1078 052 acrps of tilled land. That is, during the four years enough land had been "cleared and taken in," as the farmers say to make 100 acre farms for nearly eleven thousand families. We will see presently who own a good deal of this increased area of "improved lands."

The increased value of town and city property within the last year indicates not people and a seess-

The increased value of town and city property within the last year indicates not only reaction from the long continued depression, but substantial progress In 1872 the value of this property was $49,007 286; in 1880, $51,230,730, an increase in one year of $2 223,444. Here is another indication: April 1, 1879, there were in "money and solvent debts," $26,513 005; April 1, 1880 and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds and a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the control of the said and spoic of the $80,000 and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the created and the bonds said a quee with the convenience to anyone with the created and the bonds said a quee with the convenience to anyone with the created and the bonds said a quee with the convenience to anyone with the created and the bonds said a quee with the convenience to anyone with the created and the bonds said a quee with the convenience to anyone "merchandise," as reported, was worth, $12.012,755; April 1, 1880, $13.080,100.

What does the comptroller's report indicate as to the measure of the active productive capital in Georgia? Here we have a far more reliable test than in the valuation of within the year of $326 845. (The total values of manufactories "exempt" under the act of August 22, 1872, is $4 138,375.)

Comparing 1876 (not for values, but for numbers) with 1880 we find in the "number of hands employed between the area of twelve and sixty-five" a decrease of 7,827. There were in 1879 107,827 hands employed; in 1880, 100,780. This is hopeful. It indicates not that fewer people are at work, but that mere people do their own to the appointment of the appointment of the property of the food. NIGHTMARE, VERIIGO, EIC. From the venerable John I. Cheatham Gainesville, Ga., Dec. 23, 1879.

Gainesville, Ga., Dec. 23, 1879.

I am in my seventy-ninth year, and have been troubled ail my life with Incube commonly known as Nightmare. Recent I was induced by a friend to try your Net cotic, and have not had an attack of i since taking the first dose. For the las welve months I have been troubled with Vertigo arising from Dyspepsia, and have leading the series of the cast of each leg and with swelled ankles and feet, all o which Neurotic has benefited. I gave some to a lady friend in Jackson county, who got a severe fall, brutising her knee badly and early dislocating her hip; and also to an old friend in Athens, who was suffering with severe pain in the hip, and in both cases it gave great and speedy relief. I am pleased with Neurotic, and believe it to be a good and safe antidote for a great many pains and infirmities that mankind is heir to Every family should keep it on band for cases of emergency. You can make what use you please of this testimonial.

NEURALGIA. Gainesville, Ga. Jan. 7, 1880.

I have suffered terribly for eight months
Fwo months ago I took a bottle of Neurotic, and am now entirely well. I can say from experience the medicine cannot be surpassed, nordo I believe that it has its equal for the relief of pain. It will cure, beyond adoubt. I feel truly thankful that for the relief of pain. It will cure, beyond a doubt. I feel truly thankful that my attention was called to this great semedy. I hope that all who suffer will give it a trial.

Written for The Conditution.

The early history of Georgia is full of ro natic incidents, resulting from the formation of a new government and the remark able characters of the population—This population was -heterogeneous because it was an emigrant population—consing mostly from the middle states and the more norther of the southern states.

The early emigration from lurope was principally from England, andwas mostly resident upon the scaboard. Cry few of these people ever left that sectin to come to the therior, which was peoled by an Occoper to be placed in the pullory for the proposed of large and court. This done, he ordered the southern states.

The interior, which was peoled by an Occoper to be placed in the pullory for the pullor of lashes—this was this principally from the first hat sectin to come to the interior, which was peoled by an Occoper to be placed in the pullory for the pullor of lashes—this was thing mice.

AN IMPORTANT RUMOR.

There is a rumor affoat that E. H. Green naire who controls to a great de gree, the Louisville and Nashville railroad, has begun a wholesale purchase of the stock of the Georgia and the West Point stock of the Georgia and the West Point railroads, with a view of obtaining control of these lines. It is merely a rumor, and a reporter of The Constitution's yesterday endeavored to trace it to something solid in fact. He cailed on Mr. James, and asked what he thought of the matter. "Well," he replied. "It all smion is to about this: The friends of General Alex ander in New York, have recently bought two thousand shares of Georgia railroad stock."

"Was it done with a view of obtaining control of the rad?"

"I have no idea it was. You must remember that there are $4.200,000 of capital invested in the road, and the stock refured to represents only about $200,000 of it. It would take a much larger purchase to gain even an appearance of control."

"What dies, he purchas signify, then?"

"Nothing out that the stick is distrable as an investment. It is now 114 and will pay 8 per cent this year, in all probability. This will run it away up to 120 or 125 and shrewd capitalists naturally turn their attention to it. I think the 2,000 shares were purchased simply as an investment."

"What about the West Point road?"

"I don't think the New York parties have purchased as y of it. Acleast, I have not and after several selections by the rendered in exquisite style, entered

We had the pleasure yesterday of meeting Dr. Brown, the inventor of this machine. He has be appearance of an honest and intelligent gentleman and planter, such as you will meet all over our southern country. He isso modest and unassuming that you would hardly take him to be a man who wouldcur the fame which the invention of the simple "Distributor" will thrust upon hin, for we are satisfied as soon as its meris become known that it will be rapidly introduced on every farm in the whole country, where any domestic fertilizers are used, and as Bill Arp remarked when looking admiringly at the intel machine the other day. "No one is lift to be a farmer thless he makes domestic fertilizers."
